

NEW BOOK NOW AVAILABLE!

We published this book in March 2007. A description is on the second page of this document. You may want to purchase a copy!

The ISBN is 978-1-84753-232-9

It is available through conventional means, which means that you can order it from a bookshop, or in online stores like Amazon, Barnes and Noble etc. The best price (and FREE postage) are available at www.bookdepository.co.uk

We have 'self-published'. This means that the book is also available through the web site where we have published it. Here are the details.

Go to the following web address

<http://www.lulu.com>

You will reach the home page of Lulu, an online publisher. Type 'Trainer Development' into the 'Search' box at the top of the page. Click 'go' and you should be taken to a link to the book, which will take you with one more click to this page

<http://www.lulu.com/content/554846>

If you want to purchase a copy, you can go for a printed book.

To continue, you will need your credit card. Click on 'Add to cart' on the relevant web page, and you will then be taken through the purchasing procedure. For those of you who have not shopped online before, please be assured that this site is absolutely safe.

Professor Tony Wright and Rod Bolitho

Here is the 'blurb' describing the book:

TRAINER DEVELOPMENT has grown out of the authors' work together over more than a decade programmes in teacher education programmes around the world. Put simply, it is an account of processes involved in planning and running training courses for teachers and teacher educators. The detailed discussion reveals a great deal more about specific aspects of, and stages in this process, such as beginning a course, awareness raising, the role of talk and dialogue in training, the place of theory and assessment/evaluation issues. The discussion is grounded in training principles, structured around case studies of actual training courses, and illustrated throughout by detailed outlines of training activities. There are also suggestions for further reading.

TRAINER DEVELOPMENT will be a valuable resource for teacher educators, teachers and professional development co-ordinators around the world.